A SPECIAL LEADERSHIP EVENT

Dr Lyn Sharratt

PUTTING FACES ON THE DATA

IMPROVING EDUCATION BEGINS BY UNDERSTANDING THE NEEDS AND ABILITIES OF EVERY STUDENT.

QELi is delighted to welcome internationally renowned educator, Dr Lyn Sharratt, Associate, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, University of Toronto, to Brisbane and the Gold Coast for special, one-day leadership events.

Putting FACES on the Data will examine how educators can collaboratively build the bridge from in-school data collection to improve instruction in the classroom. Student assessment data, including NAPLAN results, can provide valuable beginnings and opportunities for rich conversations about what assessment and instructional strategies are needed for all students: those stuck, those struggling and those who need extending.

Lyn will discuss strategies from her book, 'Putting FACES on the Data', along with findings from her work with Australian schools and systems, to explain how collectively, educators can develop a common language for whole-school sharing of students' progress and how ongoing assessment can be used to successfully inform instruction.

Lyn will unpack four key elements for success:

1. The importance of using the 14 Parameter Research when developing cultures of learning
2. How to use assessment data, such as deconstructing Learning Intentions and co-constructing Success Criteria, to inform instructional practices and Learning Walks and Talks as data today is instruction tomorrow
3. The intentionality of co-creating Data Walls to know every student; and
4. The power of the Case Management Meeting to increase student achievement and build teacher and leader capacity.

Do you know all of your students and how each student is tracking in your classroom?

Have you put the FACES on the data in order to have cognitive insights and make emotional connections with each student?
